

Verbal Poem

By Hannah Monica Lai (賴以行)

以信、以行與父母合攝

I'm thankful for the changing invention of chocolates;
With tempting assortments,
Overwhelming flavors
And lavishing sugars,
All an irresistible refreshing delight,

I love meeting people like me,
Keeping in touch with my scattered friends,
Hearing their experiences from around the world,
Reading their stories that seem to have no end
Knowing they know how a MK really feels.

I want to explore this world that I live in,
To travel to every country,
To climb Mt. Kilimanjaro in my Junior Year,
To accomplish Chinese,
To see the God in which I fear.

(age 13, Nov 9, 2005 Dallas, Texas, USA)